

U. S. Artificial Astronaut Sent Around World

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States took a long stride toward manned orbital flight today by rocketing a Mercury space capsule into orbit and recovering it after one sweep around the earth.

The two-ton capsule, which carried an "artificial astronaut," was fished from the Atlantic Ocean 161 miles east of Bermuda by the destroyer USS Decatur at 12:14 p.m. — just over three hours after it roared away from Cape Canaveral on the nose of an Atlas missile.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the capsule will be returned to Cape Canaveral as soon as possible for study.

The single orbit of the earth had taken one hour and 46 minutes. The capsule was launched from the Cape Canaveral test center at 9:04 a.m. EST.

The intended impact area was 230 miles east of Bermuda. Recovery ships and planes hastened to the area to attempt recovery.

An airplane spotted the floating capsule minutes after it landed. The blastoff looked perfect to bystanders.

The Atlas' mission was to hurl the 9 foot tall bell-shaped capsule into orbit at a speed of 17,400 miles an hour. The orbit was to range from a low altitude of 100 miles to a high point of about 150 miles.

The 93-foot rocket assembly sped into a partly cloudy sky spewing a triple tail of fire from its three big engines.

About 30 seconds after liftoff it arched over on its intended trajectory toward the northeast, vanishing from sight about three minutes after launch.

The tracking station at Bermuda reported about a minute after launch that it had acquired signals from the space craft as the Atlas rose into the sky.

After one 110-minute circuit, reverse rockets were to fire to slow the vehicle so it would be drawn into the earth's atmosphere for a landing 230 miles east of Bermuda. A large recovery fleet stood by in the impact area.

UAW Orders Members to Their Jobs

By A. F. MAHAN
DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers today ordered local unions to end strikes at General Motors factories as quickly as they conclude at-the-plant working agreements.

The UAW also called off a scheduled 2 p.m. Thursday meeting of its General Motors Conference which had been summoned to wrap up a new three-year contract with the world's largest automaker.

The union urged intensification of local-level bargaining "to reach sensible and satisfactory solutions to local problems at the earliest possible date." It said the GM conference meeting was being delayed to permit local union officers to remain at their plant bargaining tables.

More than 90 plants out of GM's 129 were idled by strikes in support of local-level working agreement demands.

Local-level agreements have been worked out at 43 GM plants since walkouts began at 10 a.m. Monday. None of the plants had gotten back in operation by Tuesday night.

The strikes completely shut off the flow of new 1962 model cars which had just started to come in volume from assembly lines of the highly integrated GM empire. The GM conference was postponed to a date and time to be announced later. The meeting had been considered, in effect, a deadline for local-level settlements.

Thirty six plants continued in operation Tuesday. Some local agreements had been reached prior to Monday. Others operated while negotiations progressed, but no assembly lines were operating.

GM and the UAW have agreed on a national wage and fringe benefits package which the union estimates is worth 12.04 cents hourly in take-home pay. They also have resolved one of the knottier non-economic national issues — relief time allowed assembly line workers.

Both sides have asserted repeatedly, however, there must be settlement of all local-level and national non-economic issues before a new contract is completed. A three year old contract has been extended since Aug. 31.

Four settlements were reported Tuesday — at two plants in Tarrytown, N.Y., and single plants at Livonia, Mich., and Marion, Ind. One new walkout erupted at the Chevrolet engineering plant at the GM Technical Center in Warren, Mich., where 800 men quit work.

Miss Arkansas Returning Home

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Frances Jane Anderson, who parlayed her first beauty title into the runnerup spot in the 1962 Miss America contest, returns to Arkansas Thursday.

Two major receptions are planned for her — one in Little Rock and the other here. The 19-year-old Pine Bluff girl who won the 1962 Miss Arkansas title and almost won Miss America honors is to arrive at Little Rock's municipal airport about 3 p.m. Thursday. The Little Rock reception will be held at the airport.

After the Little Rock ceremonies, Miss Anderson will come by plane to Pine Bluff. A motorcade will take Miss Anderson and the welcoming committee from the airport to downtown Pine Bluff for a parade in her honor.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Highway Commission will open bids on nine road and bridge projects and on equipment for a combination Highway Department and Civil Defense radio network Oct. 4.

Says Show Was Typical 'Jack Paar'

NEW YORK (AP) — "About all you can say was that it was typically Jack Paar."

That was the reaction of Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., to the highly controversial "Jack Paar in Berlin" film telecast Tuesday night.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., had declared after the film was made last week on Berlin's tense East-West border that "to say it was disturbed is an understatement."

Asked in Washington today whether he had watched the telecast, the Senate majority leader replied: "No—Lord, no! The incident is closed as far as I am concerned."

The furor stirred by the film had caused concern even in the White House, which approved a Defense Department investigation of the use of U.S. Army troops by Paar.

The Army removed one officer — Lt. Col. Dallas Headley of Baltimore — from his post for "improper performance of duty."

It admonished a second — Col. J. R. Deane Jr. of San Francisco — for "exercising poor judgment" in providing troops filmed by Paar.

Javits said he saw "nothing fatal" in the NBC show but added he didn't "think anything so sensitive should be handled in this manner."

Bulletin

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau today issued the following severe weather and tornado forecast:

"Thunderstorm activity is expected to increase in intensity along the southern Mississippi River Valley and spread rapidly north-northeastward during the afternoon, accompanied by a few severe thunderstorms with a few very isolated tornadoes or damaging wind storms in an area along and approximately 60 miles east of a line from 60 miles southwest of Memphis, Tenn., to Terre Haute, Ind., from noon until 6 p.m. today."

"This includes portions of north-eastern and east central Arkansas."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee today approved a $4,196,600,000 foreign aid money bill.

In a session lasting more than three hours, the committee restored all but $63 million dollars of a $596 million cut voted by the House when it passed the measure.

The bill, one of the last obstacles to congressional adjournment, will be taken up in the Senate Friday.

Jacksonville Against Bonds

JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A $1.5 million industrial bond issue to finance increased production at the Revisor Hill Corp. plant was defeated 25 to 214 by Jacksonville residents Tuesday. Revisor Hill, the city's oldest major industry, manufactures agricultural chemicals.

Hurricane Esther Churns in Atlantic

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Esther, with peak winds at 130 miles an hour, churned on a west-northwest course today as the tropical Atlantic tossed out hurricanes in Roman candle fashion.

Betsy, Debbie and now Esther have sprung in the past two weeks from the tropical storm nesting grounds off Africa's west coast.

A hurricane hunter airplane from San Juan, P.R., penetrated the storm early today and estimated the center about 1,400 statute miles east of San Juan. The hurricane was moving west-northwest at about 12 m.p.h.

Esther was labeled a "dangerous hurricane" and shipping in her path was warned to exercise caution.

The peak winds cover a small area near the center. Hurricane force winds extending to top 135 miles in the northern semicircle and 65 miles in the southern semicircle. Gale winds extend outward 230 miles in all directions.

The hurricane was expected to maintain its course and speed for the next 12 hours with little change in size or intensity.

Forecaster Elbert Hill said the course, if unchanged, would carry it into the Gulf of Mexico.

2nd County Slashes Free Food List

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — County Judge Darrell Clark today announced a reduction in the surplus commodities rolls in St. Francis County from about 19,000 to approximately 5,000.

Clark said the reduction was an annual affair during the height of the agricultural season but added that he had cut a little deeper than usual this time.

The judge said only welfare clients would participate in the free food program while the reduction was in effect.

Clark said there was an estimated shortage of 38,000 agricultural workers in the three county area of St. Francis, Lee and Cross. Only 2,024 Mexican cotton pickers have been assigned for the area this year, he said.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A state inquiry into a cutback of Mississippi County's free food program was closed today, but a federal investigation was a possibility.

County Welfare Director Floyd Irby discussed his slash of 17,000 persons from free food rolls with state Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams Tuesday. Adams said later he was satisfied that Irby followed proper procedure.

But Adams added, "I wouldn't be a bit surprised to see a federal investigation begin."

The federal government supplies the surplus commodities for the program, the state administers it and individual counties pay for hauling and distributing the food.

Irby said he acted to cut down the Mississippi County program because it cost too much and because free food rolls increased while farmers complained they couldn't hire enough workers.

Irby cut the Mississippi County program from 27,000 recipients to about 10,000. All persons receiving state welfare grants will continue to get food.

State Gets Heavy Rainfall, Winds From Hurricane

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Storms spawned by Hurricane Carla swirled through two Arkansas communities Tuesday night and early today, damaging property but causing no injuries.

Side effects from the dying hurricane dumped showers on a wide area of the state.

A storm described as carrying tornado winds damaged several houses and other buildings in Camden, about 15 miles north of Camden, early today.

A similar storm hit a small community near El Dorado Tuesday night.

Property damage was widespread in the Blanchard Springs community on the Arkansas-Louisiana state line, but no one was killed or injured.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast an end to the Carla-spawned rain and storms tonight, but put much of the northern and western parts of the state under a severe weather and tornado alert today.

The alert expires at noon. Rainfall ranged up to 5.25 inches at Daisy, near Murfreesboro, but there were no reports of damage except in Blanchard Springs. Many areas got from one to three inches of rain and Texarkana, Langley and Index received more than four inches.

Blanchard Springs is about 40 miles north of Dodge, La., where a tornado earlier in the day killed four persons and flattened at least 25 homes.

Residents in the Blanchard Springs area were hesitant about calling the storm there a tornado but it came at a time when most of the southwestern part of the state was under a tornado alert.

Rains fell on virtually all parts of Arkansas Tuesday but apparently were heaviest in the south, influenced by the hurricane as it moved inland across Texas into Oklahoma.

One house was destroyed and several were damaged in the Blanchard Springs area, which straddles the Arkansas-Louisiana line about four miles east of Junction City.

Several barns and other farm buildings were destroyed or heavily damaged. Residents of the area said the storm swept in from the southeast in the early afternoon.

It temporarily disrupted electrical service and telephone communications in the area. One resident placed the exact time of the storm's arrival at 1:35, the time his electrical clock stopped.

The winds cut a narrow path of destruction over an area of about two miles, but apparently skipped about and did not cause damage along the entire length. Some residents heard a tremendous roar as the storm swept in. Some said they saw bits of it.

Woman Hurt in Accident Here

About 7:30 a.m. today an auto driven by Alfred Fletcher of Hope, R. 2, swerved into another car when he hit the brakes at East 13th and S. Walnut. The second car was driven by Mrs. H. B. Marcum who sustained a knee injury. City Officers Moses and Rowe said both vehicles were damaged considerably.

Radioactivity

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Frank E. Wilson, chief chemist of the state Health Department, said samples of Arkansas milk show a level of 14 micro-microcuries of radioactive Strontium-90 per liter, highest in the nation. But he said the level is well within the arbitrary human tolerance limit of 200 micro-microcuries. He said Strontium-90 varies from one section of the country to another depending on the weather. He said it is brought to earth primarily by rain.

Rebuilding on Coast to Be Long, Costly

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Texas and western Louisiana areas in woe after Hurricane Carla, one of the mightiest ever to roar out of the Gulf of Mexico.

With a possibility more bodies yet may be found, the death toll stood at 15 along 250 miles of coastline hit waste by hurricane gales up to 175 miles per hour, raging seas and a rash of tornadoes. Damage which may take months to compute ran into hundreds of millions.

Added to the mammoth recovery chore were problems of polluted water supplies and companion health threats in scores of towns and cities, a few still under as much as eight feet of water.

Flood threats, posed by heavy rains in Carla's wake were another factor. Also ahead was the return home for most of an estimated half million people who moved inland as Carla approached, a mass migration averting much heavier loss of life.

Ten of the deaths occurred as the dying winds of Carla hurled back tornadoes after the hurricane's center was many miles inland. Finally shorn of its vicious gales, remnants of the giant tropical storm moved northeastward out of Texas toward Mississippi.

In a telephone conference Tuesday night, President Kennedy told Texas Gov. Price Daniel that the director of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, Frank B. Ellis, would arrive in Houston Thursday to inspect storm-ravaged areas.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson prepared to fly back to his home state with other federal officials, Daniel said the President may come to Texas later.

The governor said Galveston and inundated Texas City, on the mainland nearby, "right now appear to have the greatest need for additional state help from the standpoint of food, health and the protection of property."

Tolling toward the coast was a 30-car special train taking 122 men and 80 vehicles to restore 100,000 telephones knocked out by the storm.

More Money for Little Rock Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — Little Rock Air Force Base would get $1.9 million for construction of a hospital under a military construction bill tentatively approved by the House Monday. The $947 million dollar measure containing the money is due for a final vote Wednesday. The bill has been approved by a Senate-House conference committee.

Reds Talk War

VIENNA (AP) — Communist Bulgaria has alerted its forces along the borders with Greece and Turkey "to meet the threat of imperialist aggression," the party newspaper Rabotnichesko Delo today reported.

The paper said forthcoming Greek landing maneuvers of the US 6th Fleet together with Greek and Turkish forces in the Aegean Sea "increased tensions in the Balkans and created the danger of war."

Chapter XI

Mickey bowed and announced that Horse collar was going to stay at the Stalcup residence. It was quite clear that Mickey figured old Horse-collar knew so much about internal combustion engines that it would be a crime to allow him to fall among unappreciative folks.

Marcia batted her eyes, recovered gallantly, and said, "That will be fine." Then she made a note to speak to her son about prior consultation before making decisions.

"Sit tight, men," Stalcup said. "I'll do some phoning." He called Holzapfel first, but before he got far, Holzapfel said, "Business has fallen apart." Itapy was feeling so good after his magnanimous treatment of Miss Cowgill that he figured he had the bicycle problem checked. Still, it was good to whipsaw the bet, so he said, "I won't need a man but I'll tell you what, there's a Miss Cowgill at the Escalante who wants two fellows to drive jeeps. If you hurry right out there—"

"Thanks," Stalcup hung up. Boy, that Holzapfel. "Marcia, send Mickey out to the Escalante right away with Rockability to see if the other French job is still open. Tell him to come right back."

Stalcup was talking to Mayor Rainbolt when he heard the boy leave. A few moments later the power mower exploded, and when Stalcup had a chance to look out, he saw Xavier cutting the lawn, with three companions helping.

Old Mr. Estep saw the action to. He padded into the house and told his wife, "Stalcup and his Indian program! All he was after was slave labor."

When Mickey and Rockability returned, reporting gleefully that Rockability had secured the jeep driving job, Stalcup dispersed his lieutenants, sending Mickey out with one group and Finnegan with another.

Stalcup himself took Chief and Rockability in tow, first visiting Rainbolt's lumberyard to give Rainbolt and the Chief and opportunity to get acquainted, and then going on to Dr. MacBeth's residence, where the two Utes were to stay.

The doctor welcomed his guests warmly, eyeing Rockability's ornate guitar with keen interest. "I do a little with the bagpipes occasionally. Maybe you and I could get together in a little concert."

"I never tried that combination," Rockability said.

"Don't," said Mrs. MacBeth.

"You wouldn't have a chance. You boys come along and I'll show you your room."

"And you, Bill, come in my study. I want you to meet some one."

Stalcup stared at the tall, dark-eyed, black-haired man with gray at the temples.

"Frank Snoddy," MacBeth said. Stalcup shook hands.

"I knew your father well," Snoddy said. "Of course that was a number of years ago."

Stalcup looked at the Italian silk suit, at the poised, distinguished-looking man who wore it with such ease. This wasn't quite the Snoddy he had pictured as Be-linda's hempecked husband. "I didn't see anything in the paper about your coming."

Snoddy smiled. "I arrived only last night. You and the MacBeths are the only ones who know I'm here. I thought I'd like to get my bearings before I burst on certain people."

"I'm trying to talk him into going to Rotary next Monday," MacBeth said. "I'll take my two Ute boys, you round up the rest of them, Bill, and we'll give that crowd a chance at something besides indigestion."

Sam Goodykoontz watched Mrs. Parmenter steal her usual can of pimientos, and then he went over to inspect the dairy section. He was thinking moodily about his wife and staring at cottage cheese, when Finnegan came in with Little John.

"I guess this guy can handle anything you've got, huh, Goody?" Finnegan said.

Goodykoontz flexed his fingers after shaking hands with his new employee. According to his experience, it was the little scowny guys with ulcers and another baby on the way who did the most work around grocery stores; maybe if this harmless-looking bruiser used only one hand, he could do wonders in the stockroom. "You may as well go on out to the house and get settled. You can start Monday."

Still holding a vague picture of Little Beaver in her mind, Pearl Goodykoontz took one look at her boarder and said, "What a big one, Finnegan. Maybe a wassler, huh?"

"Not me," said Little John. A half hour later, she had him settled in Eddie's old room had cooked him a walloping T-bone with sundries, and was serving him on a tray in the living room.

77 Persons Die in French Airline Crash

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — A French jet airliner crashed into a ravine near Rabat Tuesday night and burst into flame, killing all 77 persons aboard.

Three U.S. citizens, an Arabian prince, the Australian ambassador to Cairo, a Moroccan diplomat and two Soviet citizens were among the victims, said a spokesman for Air France, operator of the plane.

The twin-jet Caravelle airliner was coming in from Paris for a landing in a heavy fog and was in radio contact with the Rabat control tower.

Suddenly the radio cut out. A few minutes later the plane crashed.

Flames towered from the ravine as firemen raced for the crash scene, about a half mile from the airport.

The victims were 71 passengers and 6 crew members.

Among the passengers listed by Air France were three Americans: Neville Fowler, a Navy officer from Pittsburgh; John Brown, a Navy officer from Bay-side, Va.; and W. Paige, an engineer whose home address was unavailable.

Other victims were: John Quinn, Australia's ambassador to the United Arab Republic; Mohammed Boufiri, a member of Morocco's Foreign Ministry; and two Soviet citizens, Nicolai Moskim and Vladimir Skouratove.

The Arabian prince was identified as Prince Sakhi from the oil rich sheikdom of Kuwait.

Most of the victims were believed to be French and Moroccan.

so he would not miss a moment of "Prairie Fortup."

After a few minutes of real Indiana, the lucky guest seemed slightly pained.

"It's fine," Little John hesitated. "I was just wondering how Crows wound up near Dodge City, Kan."

Cotton Surplus May Dip Some

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's reserve and surplus supplies of cotton may drop this marketing year to the lowest level since 1953.

The Agriculture Department predicts these supplies may dip to 6.7 million bales by next Aug. 1 compared with 7.2 million last Aug. 1 and the record high of 14.5 million in 1956.

A combination of heavy exports in recent years coupled with a cotton production control program has brought about the big reduction.

Breaks Out in a Rash Near Boys

LOUGHTON, England (AP) — Jane Reeve, who breaks out in a rash when she mixes with boys, has won her battle to save her schoolgirl complexion.

She gaily skipped off today to an all-girl school where there'll be no boys to bring out those ugly blemishes.

Jane, 11, is allergic to boys. Boys make her nervous. That brings on the rash.

Finishing at her girls' school, Jane was threatened with a rash of rashes when she was assigned to a coed high school in this town just outside London.

Her father, Leslie Reeve, protested to the local educational authorities. He told them about the rashes.

The authorities turned down his request that Jane be allowed to attend a single sex school.

That school, they said, is full. Even a doctor's certificate, pointing out Jane's strange ailment, wouldn't budge them.

Until Tuesday, that is, when the authorities, after thinking things over, decided that in the interests of her health Jane should go to a girls' school.

An education official said: "It is felt that, in view of Jane's extreme nervousness, there is justification for her to be allowed to attend a single-sex school."

He said a place had been found at a girls' school a few miles out of Loughton.

Asks Fire Damage
 WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy has presented Congress with a $41.6-million bill for the fire damage suffered by the aircraft carrier Constellation in the Brooklyn Navy yard last December.

The repair work has almost been completed and the huge carrier will be finished by Christmas, the Navy predicted.

Gas Explosion in Mississippi

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss. (AP) — A rip in a cross-country gas line set off a thunderous explosion near here today and the blinding flash that followed lit up the countryside for miles around.

The blast touched off by the Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. line shot flame more than 100 feet into the air before the gas was finally blocked off.

Hundreds of residents of Holly Springs and surrounding towns hurried to the isolated area four miles east of this north Mississippi city. They were held back by the terrific heat and a 3-mile safety limit imposed by officials.

The early morning spectacle continued for almost two hours before the flow of gas through the 30-inch line was shut off. Parallel lines took up the slack.

A company spokesman said he could not estimate damage but

Evacuation Plans

OSLO (AP)—Authorities plan to evacuate the population in large areas of northern Norway if Soviet nuclear explosions cause a dangerous increase in the radioactive fallout, a civil defense spokesman said today.

Sverre Servan, civil defense adjutant, said that 60 observation stations are operating in the north of Norway to warn the population if any of the Soviet test explosions create dangerous conditions.

Turns Down $1 Million to Halt Film

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—What would you do if someone offered you a million dollars to quit what you were doing?

The chance came to film producer Samuel Bronston He said, "No."

Bronston had just begun shooting his picture, "King of Kings," when the representatives of another company which wished to make a film of the life of Christ—20th Century-Fox—approached him.

"They offered to pay all my expenses—and give me a cool million dollars besides if I'd abandon my project," recalled Bronston. "And this was only the beginning—they'd have gone higher. But I told them I couldn't quit."

"It seemed inhuman to me to give up. I had dreamed of making the life of Christ ever since I helped photograph art and religious treasures for the Vatican a dozen years ago."

"You're not always working just for money. Money is the consequence of deeds. You merely trade money for time to achieve your goals."

Bronston, one of nine children of a Bessarabian farmer is a small shy-voiced man with big ideas. He was graduated from the Sorbonne with a degree in political science, played the flute in the Paris Symphony Orchestra, and became one of Europe's top film salesmen before turning to producing.

He poured $1 million into "King of Kings," spent another $9 million on "El Cid," both of which will be released this fall. He also has plans under way for three more epic productions totaling $18 million. His headquarters is in Madrid, where he has taken over most of Spain's two largest studios.

"I'm not equipped for small pictures," he said. "I am interested in big productions with international appeal."

"I like to play against an open ceiling—where the sky's the limit." "There is a great market for big stories that are clean and moral and beautiful. That is what the people of all countries really want."

"And I want to cater to families—not to maniacs."

Two incidents show Bronston's unusual attitude toward budget costs.

He spent $100,000 building a 100-foot tall granite temple of Judea.

Mrs. Fay James and the Burgess Garrett family.

Mrs. A. K. Holloway has returned home after a visit in Lubbock, Tex. with the Mitchell Williams family.

Mrs. Leonard Ishister of Port Arthur, Tex. spent Sunday and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Barr.

Miss Carolyn Barn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Barr and Miss Daphne Ward, both of Irving, Tex. and employees of the American Air Lines, have left for a European trip that will include Oslo, Spavanger and Bergen in Norway, Vienna, Austria and Copenhagen, Denmark. They will return to the U.S. Sept. 30.

Mr. and Mrs. John Statton and Mavis of Nashville and Claudia McCorkle of Hope spent last week in Orange and Beaumont, Tex., and in De Ridder, La. with friends and relatives.

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Land, Bill and Courtney had recently returned from a trip to Portland, Ore., where they attended the 29th Biannual General Council of the Assemblies of God, an international meeting. They were accompanied by Rev. Land's mother, Mrs. L. E. Taylor of Mobile, Ala. They stopped over night in Eureka, Calif. where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Goelwin and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Waterson and family, formerly of Hope.

Not a Thing Proves Red Leader Good

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's an inexpensive, but not brainy, comfort to think that the pudgy man who talks peaceful coexistence is really a good guy being pushed by Kremlin tough guys into talking war and super-bombs.

Nothing in the record bears out that notion which, from time to time, is floated like a dreamy balloon to explain the sudden and savage switches which occur in Premier Khrushchev.

He didn't become leader of the Communist pack by being a soft touch anytime for anybody. He had to claw his way to the top in a league whose philosophy is based on power and not on persuasion.

The world was shocked when Khrushchev suddenly ended the East West agreement to forego nuclear tests. It didn't need to be. Khrushchev had carefully laid the groundwork for just such a switch.

The only missing element in his decision was why he did it when he did.

Nor should his toughness on Berlin now be a surprise. He said three years ago he wanted the Allies out of Berlin and it had to be done. He said there would have to be a showdown this year and he's trying to make good on his threat.

Stalin looked tougher than Khrushchev. He was behind the Berlin blockade of 1948, the Communist guerrilla warfare in Greece, the pressure on Turkey, the seizure of Czechoslovakia, and, no doubt, the Korean War. Stalin wasn't tougher, just more reckless. By the time Khrushchev took over, the United States and Russia both had the hydrogen bomb. So he had to be more careful.

But the two men's goals were the same—world domination. The only difference is tactics. A good example of why Khrushchev isn't being pressured by Kreninities more belligerent than himself is in the nuclear test suspensions.

When President Eisenhower in 1958 suspended American nuclear testing, there were some who thought the United States should not stop. You can be sure there was a difference of opinion in Russia when Khrushchev said he was suspending his tests the same year, too.

In January 1960, Khrushchev said Russia would not resume the tests unless the "Western powers resume them." In Khrushchev's mind the Western powers, as it turned out, included France which was then preparing to test.

A little more than a month later—on Feb. 13, 1960—France had its first atomic test in the Sahara. Immediately the Russian news agency, Tass, laid down what was to become the Soviet excuse for resuming its own tests.

"If nuclear explosions should continue, the Soviet government will, naturally, not be able to overlook it and fail to draw the proper conclusions for its own security," Tass said.

The Associated Press reported last May 15 that the American and British representatives, then negotiating with the Russians in Geneva on a permanent test ban, "were not greatly impressed by the threat of resumed Soviet testing."

But Khrushchev meant business, as he proved. Just as some of President Kennedy's advisers thought the United States should resume testing in the atmosphere, it can be taken for granted some of Khrushchev's advisers thought Russia should.

This record doesn't indicate that Kreninities ganged up on Khrushchev to make him change his mind about suspending atmospheric tests. The only question is why did he do it when he did, during the Berlin crisis.

A good guess is that he decided it was good strategy to show the West he meant business on Berlin and, if possible, terrorize the Allies into yielding to him.

Wants Revision

PANAMA (AP)—President Roberto F. Chiari said Monday his administration will seek total revision of the treaty with the United States on the Panama Canal at what he called an opportune time.

Chiari said Panama's geographical position is a natural resource and the people feel the United States does not give fair compensation for the 500-square-mile Canal one which besets the country. The present annuity is $19 million.

for "King of Kings" A hurricane destroyed it overnight. Struggling about the ruins in his pajamas, Bronston said only two words: "Rebuild it."

A film company wanting to make another Biblical picture offered him $300,000 for his City of Jerusalem set.

"No, that wouldn't be right—there's too much of us in it," said Bronston. "If we have no other use for it, it's better to tear it down."

Could It Be Love?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Our boarder, a young man of 21 whom my husband and I have come to love, is unwittingly breaking our 18-year-old daughter's heart.

His fiancée died a year ago and he fears to love again. In looks, ability and character he is everything a girl could ask for. All this plus propinquity has proved well nigh fatal to our child.

We think the boy is falling in love with her but continues to fear. Though living with us for several months now, he has taken her out but once. However, on that one occasion he gave her a kiss, and it wasn't a brotherly or sisterly kiss.

Ever since he has watched her like a cat, inquires for her as soon as he comes home from work, and whenever she goes out wants to know with whom and where she is going. I don't wish to be over-anxious but at the same time I don't want our little girl hurt. Can you help? —A Confused Mother

Dear Confused Mother: Too often propinquity is mistaken for love, especially where the girl is young, susceptible and inexperienced.

Help your daughter to help herself. If possible, send her away for a visit or to school in another town. If this isn't practical, invite young people to the house, broaden her horizon, give her a basis for comparison.

A fuller social life or separation from the boy will provide her with the proper perspective. At the same time it will clarify his thinking. He may suddenly find she is the one and only girl for him.

Dear Helen: I have been married to a girl with a bully for an older sis-

Wants GOPs to Start Recruiting

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas' Republican National Committee man Winthrop Rockefeller called on the Greater Little Rock Republican Women's Club Monday night to start recruiting voters, particularly from the ranks of "restless Democrats and independents."

He said those that are "independent" are the one to "go to work on." Rockefeller said an Arkansas public opinion poll showed 82 per cent of those questioned did not think the ballot in Arkansas was fully secret.

When I cry out for a normal home life, he coldly asks why when he provides me with a suitable setting, fine clothes, the latest cars, and plenty of spending money, should I want more? After years of being under the same roof with him, yet virtually living alone, I am at the limit of my endurance.

Divorce is not in his dictionary. To him no problem exists. You might say I am in a prison of my own making. Granted, but do I and the children have to be in prison forever? I want to build a real life for myself and them. Am I being ungrateful or selfish? —Desperate

Dear Desperate: You are paying the penalty for marrying a man twice your age. From what you say, money was the compensating factor. I doubt if divorce is the answer. Build a life for yourself and the children within the framework of present conditions. Think of all the pleasures you can share: Theater going, movies, reading, sports, trips, friends, parties. Your life need not be barren. Plant the seed now for a happier future. It is within your power.

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Petty Tyrants."

Explosion Fatal to Arkansan

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—Johnny Carter, 19, of near Paragould was dead on arrival at a Memphis hospital Monday after a high pressure water tank in which he was working exploded. The tank supplied water under pressure to nearby Crowley's Ridge Academy. Deputy Sheriff Sam Hunt said Carter was inserting air into the tank when it exploded.

State Gets More Defense Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arkansas will receive $145,000 for administrative costs and personnel for its civil defense program, the Defense Department said Monday. The funds are part of $12 million allocated to the various states for such work. The federal money must be matched by a like amount of state funds. The funds are separate from the $207 million Congress voted for the start of a fallout shelter program.

May Blow Pisa Tower

PISA, Italy (AP)—Reports circulated in this central Italian city today that saboteurs might try to blow up the famed leaning tower of Pisa.

The rumors spread after a weekend of terrorist bombings in Rome and half a dozen other cities. Government officials blamed the bombings on German-speaking extremists seeking greater autonomy in South Tyrol.

City authorities in Pisa said they felt normal security measures around the leaning tower are adequate. The monument, a 14th century bell tower standing next to the Cathedral of Pisa, is constantly guarded by at least two policemen.

National Guardsmen, civil defense and local officials sloshed back into devastated industrial centers and small places as huge tides, winds and rains diminished.

Many residents who fled northward will not be permitted to return, however, until water, sewer and power service are restored.

One of the more dramatic scenes was in Galveston, an island city cut off from the mainland since Saturday and target for a tornado before dawn Tuesday.

Girls waved and blew kisses as a convoy of 78 National Guard troops rolled into battered Galveston. It took them three hours to make the 50-mile trip from Houston, at times creeping through three feet of water covering the causeway.

Hospital attendants listed among Galveston's six tornado dead Mrs. J. N. Olson, 62, a city school board member; Marie Harris, 57, and Emmie Miles, about 50. Another tornado wrecked the village of Fullbright in north Texas but caused no deaths or injuries.

Four persons died in a tornado striking at Jonesboro, La. It leveled at least two dozen houses and several persons were listed as missing.

Coach Glen Rose said Tuesday scholarships went to Billy Ray Woods of Judsonia, Billy Ray Jones of Rogers, Dick Remke and Wayne Rivers of Amarillo, Tex., Mike Cecil of Red Bluff, Calif., and Jim Dane of Branson, Mo.

U. S. Paratroopers

ADANA Turkey (AP) — Two thousand U.S. paratroopers arrived at the US air base today after a 5,000-mile direct flight to take part in NATO maneuvers with air, sea and naval forces of the United States, Britain, Italy, Turkey and Greece.

The exercise dubbed checkmate, will last a week.

The paratroopers are men of the famed 81st Airborne Division.

More Riots in Dominican Republic

By ROBERT BERNELLES

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Tanks and troops restored order today after rioting by opposition political groups left four dead and more than a score injured.

The violence was sparked by the arrival of a four-man team from the Organization of American States Tuesday. They are investigating the possibility of lifting some of the diplomatic and economic sanctions on the Dominican regime that took over after the assassination of Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo last May. The opposition fears this would entrench Trujillo's heirs in power.

There were conflicting versions of what happened near Duarte Bridge over the UEA River around noon Tuesday, when a crowd of about 5,000, mostly from a nearby working class neighborhood, gathered to greet the OAS delegates.

Opposition eyewitnesses claimed that a car filled with armed forces and plain clothes police jumped out of their unmarked car and fired pistols and automatic rifles into the crowd.

But Col. Marcos Jorge, chief of the national police, said an air force sergeant, Victoriano Cruz Hernandez, was angered when the crowd stoned his car, emptied his revolver into the demonstrators and then fired his automatic rifle.

Cruz Hernandez was turned over to civilian authorities for investigation, Jorge said.

The OAS caravan was chased about a mile toward the city by the crowd. Demonstrators chanted "liberty" and "brutality" and beat on the cars. Some carried placards deriding the U.S. representative, deLesseps Morrison, for accepting a medal from Trujillo.

He has said the State Department advised him to accept it.

Some of the opposition leaders claim the police have provoked numerous riots—killing more than a dozen demonstrators in past weeks—and are trying to weaken the opposition by branding it as pro-Communist.

While President Joaquin Balaguer is the nominal head of the nation, the real power is generally considered to rest in the hands of Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo Jr., chief of the armed forces and son of the slain dictator.

No Time to Enforce Gaming Laws

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today State Police do not have time to enforce gambling laws over the state.

The governor indicated he felt gambling was a problem for local law enforcement agencies. But he said State Police stood ready to help local officers anytime they were asked to.

"The main duty of the State Police is the highway patrol," Faubus said. "If they become interested in any other type of law enforcement, it would detract from this basic duty."

Faubus made these remarks in response to questions about a telegram sent by Kenneth Coffelt, Little Rock lawyer, to Sen. John L. McClellan of Arkansas urging McClellan to subpoena Arkansas State Police and officials in Pulaski and Garland counties in connection with the senator's inquiry into nationwide gambling.

McClellan has said his committee's jurisdiction did not extend to local gambling.

Faubus said he would not object to anyone subpoenaing State Police. "They can ask State Police to testify on anything they want them to at any time," Faubus said.

The governor added that State Police have not, to his knowledge, refused to go with local officials on any gambling raid if they are asked to help.

PSC Job Goes to Ozark Man

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus today offered Mark Woolsey of Ozark the job of attorney for the Public Service Commission.

Woolsey, 59, has not accepted yet.

The job became open as a result of shifts beginning with the retirement of Supreme Court Justice J. Seaborn Holt.

Faubus named Neill Bohlinger to the court, then the Highway Commission appointed Dan D. McClellan.

Faubus said he would not object to anyone subpoenaing State Police. "They can ask State Police to testify on anything they want them to at any time," Faubus said.

The governor added that State Police have not, to his knowledge, refused to go with local officials on any gambling raid if they are asked to help.

Negro Killed by Little Rock Officer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Negro man was shot and killed by a policeman Monday night. Officers said he had fired at a taxicab driver and a patrolman.

He was identified as Joe Holden, 31.

Police said the man approached a cab driver Jimmy Jeffries, 24, a Negro, with a pistol and fired several shots when Jeffries drove away in the taxi.

Jeffries alerted police by radio and Patrolmen J. B. Yancey and J. D. Harris began a search for the gunman.

Holden fired at the officers and Jeffries. Other officers were called to assist. Yancey confronted Holden in a yard and ordered him to drop his gun, but the Negro raised the weapon and Yancey fired a shotgun twice at him. Holden was killed instantly. The shooting was ruled justifiable homicide.

Stephens in Bohlinger's place as Highway Department counsel. Stephens had been PSC attorney.

El Dorado and Fort Smith, two of the Big Nine Conference's dark-horse teams, got an early chance to put each other in the shade Friday night in the league's game of the week in Fort Smith.

And Benton, conquerer of Little Rock Central, talks on Stuttgart in an important non-conference Class AA game. Benton is the favorite, and with a solid victory over the Ricchards can clinch a place among the states top teams.

St. Anne's the Fort Smith parochial school, pits its 43-game streak against Class AA powerhouse Springdale, and Springdale is favored to put an end to the Buffaloes' long and storied skin without a loss.

These are the outstanding games as Arkansas high school teams get down to the fascinating business of conference competition. Blytheville, Little Rock and Pine Bluff are favored in Big Nine conference games.

And in the bit on, Fort Smith rates a seven-point edge over El Dorado for two reasons: the game is in Fort Smith, and El Dorado could manage no better than a 6-6 tie with Smackover, a strong 4AA team.

Little Rock High is top conference favorite now and the top team in the first Associated Press schoolboy poll, is heavily favored over a Hot Springs team that tied Class AA Morrilton 7-7 last week.

Smackover is expected to come back inspired after its tie with El Dorado and put Camden Fairview all but out of the 4AA title race. Camden beat Fairview 10-7 last week in the conference opener.

Here's the week's outlook:

FORT SMITH 13, El Dorado 6. One of the best games of the season from the fan's standpoint. El Dorado will have to give quarterback Gary Elia and halfback Jerry Mosey some help to win.

BLYTHEVILLE 7, North Little Rock 0. Northsiders may not be as bad as expected after a morale boosting victory over Subiaco. But Blytheville proved it has the fire power in a 35-0 verdict over Osceola.

LITTLE ROCK HALL 37, Hot Springs 12. An easy opener for the Warriors.

LITTLE ROCK CATHOLIC 0, A wounded Tiger is always most fearsome. PINE BLUFF 21, Texarkana 0. Zebra offense jelled in 27-0 victory over Hope, and Texarkana just doesn't have the stoppers.

Around the state in Class AA: FAYETTEVILLE 19, Siloam Springs 0. A hard one to pick after Fayetteville's curious 13-0 triumph over Bentonville.

HARRISON 6, Mountain Home 0. Maybe.

BENTONVILLE 12, Rogers 7. Defending 1AA champs look saggy.

SPRINGDALE 20, St. Anne's 6. Springdale is too big and too

Yanks Maintain Their Lead in American

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's been a claim of foul in that home run race that's heading into the home stretch with Roger Maris holding a three-length lead over fast-closing Babe Ruth and Mickey Mantle losing ground.

Maris, the leader with 56 home runs, angrily criticized plate umpire Hank Soar Tuesday night after the New York Yankees edged the Chicago White Sox 4-3 in a rain-shortened contest that cost Maris and Mantle at least one at-bat apiece.

Reduced to a three-game edge over Ruth's record 60 home run pace of 1927, Maris cited Soar for what he called poor balls and strikes calls. "I didn't get too many strikes," complained the Yankee slugger, "yet they were being called strikes. I was swinging in self defense."

Both Maris, who now needs four homers in the next nine decisions to tie Ruth's mark in the allotted time, and Mantle were held harmless by Billy Pierce and Frank Baumann. But each had a single before the game was called in the last of the sixth.

The triumph kept the Yankees 11½ games ahead of the Detroit Tigers, and lowered their magic number to seven. Any combination of seven wins or Detroit losses will bring New York its 11th pennant in the last 13 years and the first for rookie manager Ralph Houk.

The Tigers kept pace by beating Kansas City 3-1 for Frank Lary's 20th victory. And Washington whipped Boston 5-1 on Pete Burnside's three-hitter. Los Angeles-Minnesota was postponed. Baltimore and Cleveland were not scheduled.

In the National League, Cincinnati's first-place Reds bopped the Chicago Cubs 7-2 and moved 4½ games in front of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who lost 19-10 to Philadelphia. St. Louis beat Milwaukee 4-1 and Pittsburgh blanked San Francisco 3-0.

Maris and Mantle were instrumental in the Yankees 13th consecutive triumph with Maris wheeling home with the winning run in the fifth on Elston's howling single. He had opened with a single and moved up on Mantle's base hit. Maris, who went to the plate four times, also walked in the first and scored, while Mantle who has 53 homers, struck out and fled deep to center in his other at-bats.

Ralph Terry (14-2) won it for the Yanks although tagged for eight hits—one the game's only homer by little Luis Aparicio. Al Smith began the final inning with a double to left center and Nellie Fox moved him to third with a sacrifice. The Yanks pulled the infield in and held Smith at third while Jim Landis grounded out. Then the rains came.

Pierce (9-9) who lasted one inning—he gave up three runs and four hits—was charged with the loss.

Lary (20-9) won his 20th on the fourth go-round with a five-hitter when the Tigers came up with two in the eighth against Jerry Walker (7-12). Billy Bruton's triple, a walk, Norm Cash's sacrifice fly and singles by Dick McAuliffe and Steve Boros got the job done after Dick Brown tied it in the fifth with his 13th homer. Homer No. 8 for Deron Johnson accounted for the A's run.

During the hot summer days the garden hose is the fountain of youth.

blasted right back. "Those pitchers didn't throw me too many strikes tonight," complained Maris, "yet they were being called strikes. I had to swing in self defense."

Soar shot back: "He's so tight he can't breathe. You can't call a strike on him without getting an argument."

Maris cited three instances when he believed Soar erred in his judgment of balls and strikes. The first time was in the second inning when, with runners on second and third, Roger bluffed a hunt but did not swing. Soar called it a strike.

"The pitch was high—up here," Maris said, raising his arm above his shoulder.

The second bad call, according to the Maris, was when Soar called him out on strikes a few moments later.

"I didn't swing," he asserted. "My body moved but my bat didn't."

"What am I supposed to be a mind reader?" asked Soar. "When he swings, he swings."

In the sixth inning, Maris disagreed with a strike call, an inside pitch. Roger raised a high foul caught outside first base on the pitcher's next delivery.

"They are pitching him inside," said Soar, "and he's letting them go by."

Said Maris: "I realize an umpire can have a bad day just as a player can have one. But I don't like it when it happens every time I come to bat. I'm not looking for any favors. All I want is a fair shake."

Redlegs Boost Lead Thanks to Johnson

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Darrell Johnson, acquired by Cincinnati in mid-August, drove in three runs with a pair of doubles Tuesday night as the Reds beat the Chicago Cubs 7-2 and boosted their National League lead over second place Los Angeles to 6½ games.

Johnson, 34, with a .233 major league batting average, has been hitting at a .275 clip since he was purchased from Philadelphia but his exploits had to share top billing with Don Demeter's.

Demeter made the woeeful Phils anything but as he crashed three homers and a single, driving in seven runs in a 19-10 rout of the pennant-chasing Dodgers. The Gibson's three-hitter for Pittsburgh blanked San Francisco 5-0 and a five-hitter by St. Louis' Bob Gibson checked Milwaukee 4-1.

In the American League, Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle went homerless as the league-leading New York Yankees beat Chicago's White Sox 4-1 in a game called in the last of the sixth due to rain. Second-place Detroit defeated Kansas City 3-1 for Frank Lary's 20th win, and Washington whipped Boston 5-1. Los Angeles and Minnesota were rained out. Baltimore and Cleveland were idle.

Johnson and Wally Post formed a formidable 1-2 punch for the Reds against starter Dick Ellsworth (8-11) and his successors.

Post hit his 19th homer in the fourth and drove in the clincher for Jim O'Toole (15-11) with a sixth inning single that scored Elio Chacon.

In a game that had nine homers — five by the Phils — 29 hits and the most runs scored against the Dodgers since they moved to Los Angeles in 1958, Demeter's performance was easily the standout.

The former Dodger hit a two-run homer in the first, drove in a run with a single in a nine-run second, homered with two on in the seventh and hit a solo shot in the ninth.

That nine-run second inning won it for the Phils, who chased starter Sandy Koufax (15-11), War Centennial.

Dick Stuart homered twice, driving in all Pittsburgh's runs off Mike McCormick (12-15) as Gibson (11-10) snapped the Giants' four-game winning streak.

Run-producing singles by Claydie James and Don Tausig and an error on a throw home won it for Gibson (11-11) as the Cardinals chased Milwaukee starter Bob Hendley with three runs in the seventh.

State Receives a Citation
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas was cited Tuesday night for its participation in the national Civil War Centennial.

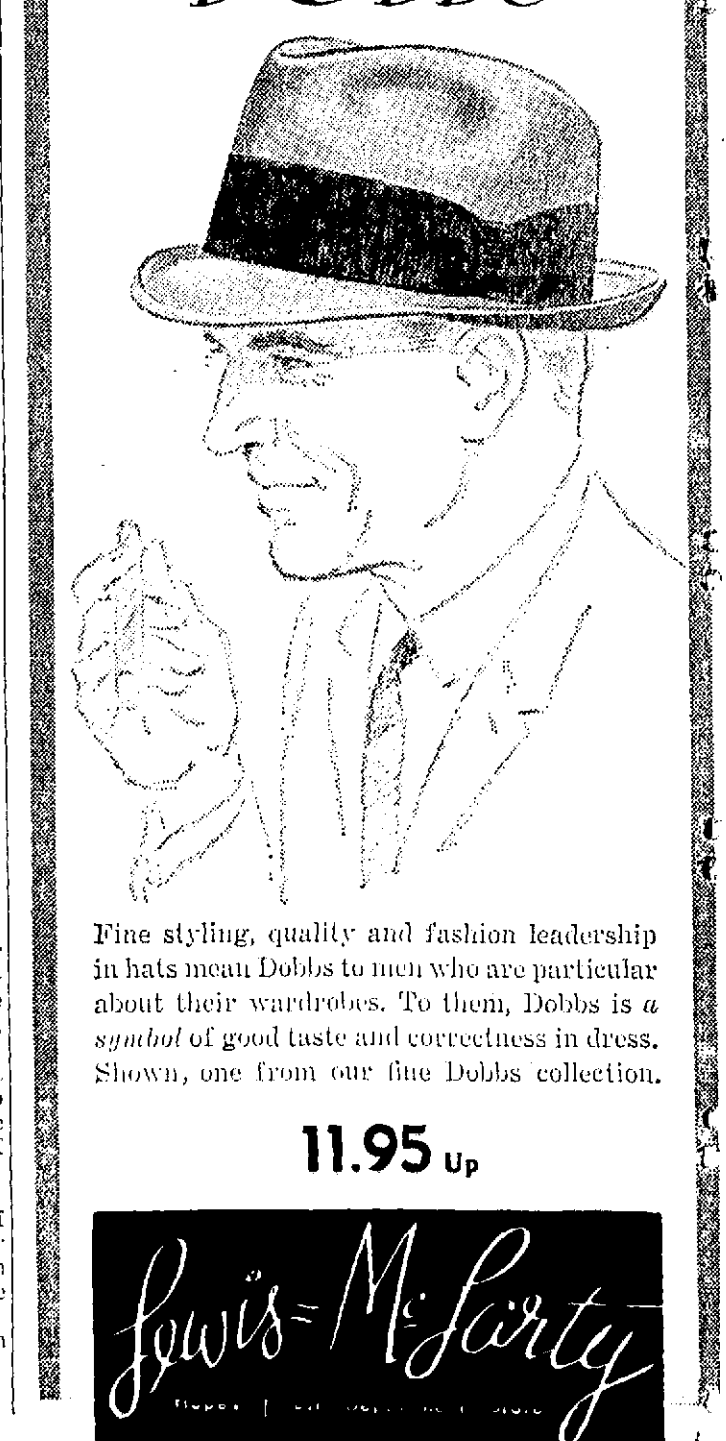

Gov. Orval E. Faubus accepted a special medalion from Col. Karl S. Betts, special consultant to the national Civil War Centennial Commission. The medalion is the commission's highest award.

It was the first time a state has been so honored.

Betts said the award was for the state's contribution of Pea Ridge National Military Park, which he called the "Gettysburg of the West."
